Benjamin, Melanie. The Aviator’s Wife. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, part of one of the first American “power couples,” this novel depicts the highs and lows of being married to the world’s most famous aviator.

Bradley, C. Alan. Speaking From Among the Bones. When the tomb of St. Tancred is opened at a village church in Bishop’s Lacey, the shocking contents lead to another case for Flavia de Luce. Greed, pride and murder result in old secrets coming to light.

Bronte, Charlotte. Jane Eyre. Early 19th-century England, an orphaned young woman accepts employment as a governess and soon finds herself in love with her employer who has a terrible secret.

Brooks, Max. World War Z. The world as we know it ends as the zombies rise up to take control.

Chiaverini, Jennifer. Mrs. Lincoln’s Dressmaker. A fictionalized account of the friendship between Mary Todd Lincoln and her dressmaker Elizabeth Keckley, a former slave.

Foer, Jonathan Safran. Extremely Loud and Incredibly Close. Foer’s novel was an ALA notable book in 2006, and was one of the first novels to deal with the tragedy of 9/11.

Grahame-Smith, Seth. Pride and Prejudice and Zombies. As a mysterious plague falls upon the village of Meryton and zombies start rising from the dead, Elizabeth Bennett is determined to destroy the evil menace, but becomes distracted by the arrival of the dashing and arrogant Mr. Darcy.

Benjamin, Melanie. The Aviator’s Wife. Anne Morrow Lindbergh, part of one of the first American “power couples,” this novel depicts the highs and lows of being married to the world’s most famous aviator.

Bradley, C. Alan. Speaking From Among the Bones. When the tomb of St. Tancred is opened at a village church in Bishop’s Lacey, the shocking contents lead to another case for Flavia de Luce. Greed, pride and murder result in old secrets coming to light.

Bronte, Charlotte. Jane Eyre. Early 19th-century England, an orphaned young woman accepts employment as a governess and soon finds herself in love with her employer who has a terrible secret.

Brooks, Max. World War Z. The world as we know it ends as the zombies rise up to take control.

Chiaverini, Jennifer. Mrs. Lincoln’s Dressmaker. A fictionalized account of the friendship between Mary Todd Lincoln and her dressmaker Elizabeth Keckley, a former slave.

Foer, Jonathan Safran. Extremely Loud and Incredibly Close. Foer’s novel was an ALA notable book in 2006, and was one of the first novels to deal with the tragedy of 9/11.

Grahame-Smith, Seth. Pride and Prejudice and Zombies. As a mysterious plague falls upon the village of Meryton and zombies start rising from the dead, Elizabeth Bennett is determined to destroy the evil menace, but becomes distracted by the arrival of the dashing and arrogant Mr. Darcy.
King, Stephen. Carrie. This title is the ultimate barrier-breaking book on revenge as King's debut novel tells the tale of a misunderstood high school girl and her extraordinary abilities.

Kingsolver, Barbara. Prodigal Summer. Kingsolver intertwines three stories of human love within a larger tapestry of lives inhabiting the forested mountains and struggling small farms of southern Appalachia.

Kohler, Sheila. Becoming Jane Eyre. Kohler's beautifully imagined tale of the Bronte sisters delicately unravels the connections between one of fiction's most indelible heroines and the remarkable woman who created her.

Maguire, Gregory. Wicked. The author introduces us to the genre of the retold fairy tale by giving us the story of The Wizard of Oz written from the viewpoint of the Wicked Witch of the West.

Ozeki, Ruth L. A Tale for the Time Being. This book, full of the author's signature humor and insight, weaves across time and space as it probes the relationship between writer and reader, and fact and fiction as well as history, memory and myth in an inventive, beguiling story of our shared humanity and the search for home.

Patchett, Ann. State of Wonder. Patchett's ambitious novels takes us deep into the heart of the Amazon as our main character, scientist Marina Singh, goes in search of her colleague and discovers the lead scientist has discovered a way to make women fertile into their 70s.

Powers, Glenn. The Yellow Birds. A finalist for the National Book Award in 2012, The Yellow Birds has been called a groundbreaking novel on the Iraqi War. The novel focuses on the effects of the hidden war on mothers and families at home.

Shapiro, B. A. The Art Forger. What would you do if you are a “starving” artist presented with the idea of painting a forgery of a renowned missing painting? Things are not what they appear in Shapiro’s novel that will sweep you away into the world of art history, deception and romance.

Strout, Elizabeth. Olive Kitteridge. The author won a Pulitzer Prize for her innovative fiction that consisted of 13 separate short stories that intertwine with one character throughout.

King, Stephen. Carrie. This title is the ultimate barrier-breaking book on revenge as King’s debut novel tells the tale of a misunderstood high school girl and her extraordinary abilities.

Kingsolver, Barbara. Prodigal Summer. Kingsolver intertwines three stories of human love within a larger tapestry of lives inhabiting the forested mountains and struggling small farms of southern Appalachia.

Kohler, Sheila. Becoming Jane Eyre. Kohler’s beautifully imagined tale of the Bronte sisters delicately unravels the connections between one of fiction’s most indelible heroines and the remarkable woman who created her.

Maguire, Gregory. Wicked. The author introduces us to the genre of the retold fairy tale by giving us the story of The Wizard of Oz written from the viewpoint of the Wicked Witch of the West.

Ozeki, Ruth L. A Tale for the Time Being. This book, full of the author’s signature humor and insight, weaves across time and space as it probes the relationship between writer and reader, and fact and fiction as well as history, memory and myth in an inventive, beguiling story of our shared humanity and the search for home.

Patchett, Ann. State of Wonder. Patchett’s ambitious novels takes us deep into the heart of the Amazon as our main character, scientist Marina Singh, goes in search of her colleague and discovers the lead scientist has discovered a way to make women fertile into their 70s.

Powers, Glenn. The Yellow Birds. A finalist for the National Book Award in 2012, The Yellow Birds has been called a groundbreaking novel on the Iraqi War. The novel focuses on the effects of the hidden war on mothers and families at home.

Shapiro, B. A. The Art Forger. What would you do if you are a “starving” artist presented with the idea of painting a forgery of a renowned missing painting? Things are not what they appear in Shapiro’s novel that will sweep you away into the world of art history, deception and romance.

Strout, Elizabeth. Olive Kitteridge. The author won a Pulitzer Prize for her innovative fiction that consisted of 13 separate short stories that intertwine with one character throughout.